PRAY

- That the Caribbean Christian Centre for the Deaf (CCCD) will best manage their resources, meet the community's needs, and develop relationships that could open new doors even during a global crisis.
- For new opportunities to raise awareness of CCCD's resources for children and families of the Deaf population.
- For the appropriate doctors so the Briggs family can find acceptable pharmaceutical alternatives that are easily accessible for family health needs.

About the ministry

Imagine living in a world where you were unable to communicate the same way as those around you. You might feel isolated, frustrated, and misunderstood. This scenario isn't far from reality for the global Deaf community. It's estimated only two percent of Deaf children worldwide receive their education in a signed language, many of them suffering from language deprivation for the rest of their lives. That means millions upon millions are denied the language access to understand the greatest message ever given—the gospel.

Chris and Ren Briggs live in the Jamaica Deaf Village where they work in partnership with the Caribbean Christian Centre for the Deaf (CCCD). With a mix of coordinating church and collegiate mission trips, engaging the Deaf community in the village, and managing and developing the textile business for CCCD, Chris's ministry is diverse, but it's all centered around engaging, equipping, and empowering the Deaf community to be all that God created them to be.
