

June 2023

Hello dear friends,

We want to share with you some of the many things this year has brought.

We remain confident in the mighty hand of the Lord with Jaime's health. This is a process of resistance and fidelity to His promises. Thanks so much for your prayers. Your support is always our strength.

Regarding our church planting and education project, we have much to share. As a result of the Saturday children's club, four young people have asked for admission to seventh grade.

What started as a kids' club has brought their parents in as well. It has been a slow process and under religious persecution, but God continues to add those he has chosen.

The neighbors have begun to visit occasionally and share refreshments with the children. We have gone from being CIMAC to what this summer will be dedicated as "Casa de Gracia."

We also want to share that after a long wait, we were able to return to Cuba. This time, a team of five traveled by train to the ICRC. During one week, eight more churches were trained in the use of the Children and Worship Program. According to the President of the Christian Reformed Church in Cuba, three years after our visit, an awakening of the church began. The program was officially adopted and added to the Christian education ministry on the island. Thanks to the support of Global Mission, eight churches received the necessary materials to run the program. Most of the children come alone and some parents have been reached through their children.

For all that has happened, we can only praise God for his continued love. During trials, we have also felt loved, cared for, and affirmed.

We look forward to visiting you this fall and being able to share more of how much God continues to do in our ministry.
